Back to Base: Does a Base Have to Stand Alone?

BACK TO BASE

- 1 A WORD WE BUILD CAN BECOME THE NEXT BASE.
Look at the steps.

HELP + FUL → HELPFUL
UN + HELPFUL → UNHELPFUL

What were we building on first? _____

What were we building on next? _____

- 2 COMPARE THESE TWO BASES.

HELPFUL

RUPT

Which one can stand alone as a word? _____

Can we build words with both? ☐ Yes ☐ No ☐ Not sure

- 3 WHAT DID WE DISCOVER?

- Some bases can stand alone as words.
- Some bases cannot stand alone as words and are found with other word parts or pieces.
- Both can still be something we build on.

- 4 LANGUAGE INVESTIGATORS HAVE NAMES FOR THESE.

FREE BASE — can stand alone as a word

BOUND BASE — does not normally stand alone as a word

You do not need to memorize these names.
They just help us talk about what we discovered.

- 5 YOUR EXPLANATION

I know RUPT can do base work because _____

OUR BIG IDEA

A BASE DOES NOT HAVE TO STAND ALONE AS A WORD.

A BASE IS THE PART OR PIECE WE ARE BUILDING ON.

WE BUILD WORDS BY ADDING OTHER WORD PARTS OR PIECES.
